

Psalm 5

2. Give ear to my words, O Lord, and hearken to my prayer.

3. Attend to the voice of my supplication, O my King and God! For unto Thee, O Lord, will I pray. 4. Thou shalt hear my voice in the morning; In the morning shall I stand before Thee, Lord and wait. 5. For Thou art not a God who loves wickedness, nor do the evil dwell beside Thee. 6. Transgressors shall not stand before Thine eyes-- For Thou hate all who work iniquity. 7. Thou shall destroy all those who speak lies; the bloodthirsty and deceitful the Lord despises.

8. But as for me I shall enter into Thy House in the abundance of Thy mercy; and shall worship before Thy Holy Temple in the fear of Thee.

9. Oh Lord, put me in Thy righteous path, because of my enemies: make right Thy path before me. 10. For in their mouth there is no truth; their heart is destroyed, their throat is an open grave, with their tongues they flatter. 11. Judge them O God, do not let them succeed with their plans; cast them out with the multitude of their transgressions, for they have stood against Thee. 12. But let them rejoice, those who hope unto Thee, let them rejoice eternally, and Thou shall protect them; and they shall boast in Thee all those who love Thy Name.

13. For Thou O Lord, will bless the righteous; Thou shall crown us with Thy loving kindness as with a perfect shield.
